

FROM THE DESK OF

Santa Claus

My Dearest [REDACTED] – You have now grown to such a young man. I am very proud of you, through all of the trials and tribulations of your parents; you have managed to take care of both you and your sister in an excellent manner. You may not recognize it as of yet, but you are surrounded by the love and strength of all of those who have passed away. They are your angels and they are always with you to guide and love you from afar. God has blessed you with so much, but it is now time for you to take the role and lead the endeavor to help those in need.

When your mom became of age I reached out to her as well, you and your sister will carry on the tradition of creating positive change in this world with those around you. You both have been chosen to help me spread God's love and joy to the world through your jobs and actions. From this point on I need you both to take care of the underprivileged and uplift those in need. This is a full time endeavor and an honor only a few receive. When you were younger, gifts were fun, they were treasures. Now that you are older a gift becomes something different. It is about the good things you can bring into someone's life, the things that you can do to make a positive difference to those around you. You have the power to influence someone to smile, to give a gift to dry a tear, or to provide a hug in a time of need.

Your job now comes from giving from the heart, the more positive change you can bring, the stronger and brighter your heart will shine. This is a job not given to many; your mom was but a few that received this many moons ago. It is your turn now, but please don't share your new role with others; this is something between you and me so that the spirit of Christmas and Santa carries on through your good doings all year round. It is time for you to start taking care of others, this could be your family, friends, or even through a charitable organization. This year I gift you something deep in your soul, the gift to serve others and to make an impact on the world around you.

Your mom works hard to love and protect you, remember that she is always close to you to help you whenever you need and she will be right there to assist you on this new position I have granted upon you as she has done this for many before. God Bless you my child and spread love and kindness throughout!

PS – It may not always seem this way but [REDACTED] is your sister, she loves you, and she will be with you through thick and thin. Do the same for her Always and Forever!
